Mr. William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency

Mr. Casey,

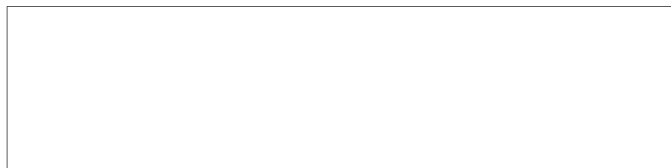

I would like to apologize for the behavior exhibited by some of my fellow students during your presentation last Thursday (10/15/81). Their conduct was inexcusable and, quite frankly, embarrassing to both University officials and most of the students in attendance. I was disgusted with the childish antics, and expect the perpetrators to be reprimanded. It is ironic that a group of individuals, claiming to be concerned with the violation of rights, would choose to infringe upon your rights in order to express their views. If Brown is to continue to be the liberal institution and center of learning that it claims to be, all views, no matter how controversial, must be aired for consideration.

I regret that the incident took place, and I extend this apology with the hope that you will view this incident as the misguided actions of a small group of ill-behaved "jerks." I sincerely hope that this incident will not discourage speakers such as yourself from visiting Brown. Your next visit, I trust, will provide a much more pleasant experience.

I am confident that most Brown students would join me in thanking you for speaking at Brown. I would like to personally thank you for interrupting your schedule to share with us your views on U.S. intelligence.
